

Place children into teams.

Place some small soft objects where the children will be running, which will act as hurdles.

Children need to run up and back, leaping over the hurdles as they go, and tag the next person in line.